

Computing Resources Use and Allocation

The campus computer and network resources are not generally limited by allocation of resources. There are policies listed below that encourage appropriate use according to the needs of the students, faculty, and staff. Historically, there were allocations of resources and "charge backs" of real or allocated funds. That approach was replaced by the "library model" that allows clients to use the resources according to their needs and applicable UA policies.

Disk space for various computing needs is allocated as follows:

- comp.uark.edu (used for personal web site development and applications):
Soft limit: 300MB
Hard limit: 350MB
(hard limit cannot be exceeded, soft limit can be exceeded for up to 7 days)
- My Docs (file share for personal storage):
Quota limit: 300MB
- Mail storage:
Students: 50MB
Staff: 100MB
Faculty: 200MB

There is an allocation algorithm for the Red Diamond supercomputer. A faculty member who is manager of Red Diamond uses the allocation to ensure appropriate use of this research computational resource.
