

Use and Allocation of Computing Resources

The campus computer and network resources are not generally limited by allocation of resources. There are policies listed below that encourage appropriate use according to the needs of the students, faculty, and staff. Historically, there were allocations of resources and "charge backs" of real or allocated funds. That approach was replaced by the "library model" that allows clients to use the resources according to their needs and applicable UA policies.

Some disk space for Comp, the UA general use computing server is allocated as follows:

Comp storage (which include My Documents folder for all users):

Soft limit: 300MB

Hard limit: 350MB

(user cannot exceed the hard limit at all, but can exceed the soft limit for up to 7 days)

Mail storage:

Students: 50MB

Staff: 100MB

Faculty: 200MB

There is an allocation algorithm for the Red Diamond supercomputer. A faculty member who is manager of Red Diamond uses the allocation to ensure appropriate use of this research computational resource.
